

Next Generation NCLEX: Developing Clinical Judgment Faculty Development Workshop

Thursday, Jan. 16, 2020 | 9 a.m.-3 p.m.

University of Maryland School of Nursing, Baltimore, MD

Register now!

Prepare for the future while improving students' clinical judgment today. The National Council of State Boards of Nursing's (NCSBN) Next Generation NCLEX initiative will change nursing education profoundly. Discover how teaching strategies that focus on developing clinical judgment are essential to preparing your students for Next Gen NCLEX, and learn curriculum strategies to prepare your students for licensure success and competent nursing practice.

Topics covered by this FREE workshop include:

- Incorporating the NCSBN Clinical Judgement Model into the curriculum
- Active learning exercises that help students develop clinical judgement in the class, lab, simulation, and clinical experiences
- Evaluation strategies
- Teaching and testing policies

Continental breakfast served at 8:30 a.m. Lunch is provided.

ABOUT THE PRESENTER

Susan Sportsman, PhD, RN, ANEF, FAAN, with Collaborative Momentum Consulting, builds upon 40 years of experience as a clinician, educator, and consultant to provide nursing and health professions educators with expert guidance and consultation in the areas of student, faculty, and program performance and leadership development. She has worked as a medical-surgical and psychiatric nurse in hospitals and in the community, she has been a teacher and an administrator in both service and education, and she has consulted for a broad spectrum of colleges and universities throughout North America.

RSVP at nursing.umaryland.edu/nextgennclx

This workshop is approved for 5.0 contact hours through Elite Healthcare, an accredited provider of continuing nursing education by the American Nurses Credentialing Center's Commission on Accreditation.

This workshop is offered at no cost through funding by the Nurse Support Program II (NSP II 19-124), which is funded by the Maryland Health Services Cost Review Commission and administered by the Maryland Higher Education Commission.